STORMS CARRY DEATH TO NINE; HIT SIX STATES

Chicago Feels Lash of Wind, Rain.

Nine persons are known to have been killed and about 50 injured in a series of freakish tornadoes and rain, hail and electrical storms which whipped their way across western Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois and Indiana late Thursday night and yesterday. Damage to property and crops will run into millions.

Cities and villages in Iowa and Wisconsin, the two states hit hardest by the elements, last night were digging away the debris and starting to repair the damage inflicted by terrific winds, cloud bursts and lightning.

Farm buildings swept away. Acres of corn and other grains were laid low by wind and hail. Hundreds of farmers were made destitute. Rivers already swollen by heavy rains burst their banks and carried away bridges and dams. Trees, uprooted, snapped telephone and telegraph wires, even in cases where poles were able to withstand the blasts, cutting off communication with the stricken communities.

Climax of Stormy Week.

Five persons were killed in Wisconsin, bringing the death total in that state resulting from a week of storms up to fifteen. A woman was killed in Iowa, a 3-year-old child was killed by lightning in Oak Park, and two persons were killed in Illinois.

Late in the afternoon another storm swept a section of Wisconsin between May Claire and St. Paul, Minn., wrecking new haves, while a seventy-two mile gale was sweeping through Toledo, O., and the center of the storm was reported to be dissipating its fury eastward across Lake Erie.

More thunder showers, accompanied by high wind, are forecast for today and possibly tomorrow, although the weather man predicts fair and cooler weather for Sunday in the northern portion of Illinois.

According to Prof. Henry J. Cox, Chicago and the upper Mississippi valley caught the storms from the "bar" of a disturbed shaped low pressure area, with one storm center in the vicinity of St. Paul and the other near Kansas City.

Storms Sweep Three Counties.

In Wisconsin, where the loss of life was heaviest, two tornadoes swept across Trempealeau, Jackson, Barron, and Chippewa counties. The first appeared in Trempealeau county and crossed over into Jackson county, where it spent its forces on Black River Falls. Julius Baglier, 38 years old, married Rose Omer, and George Nash, 36, and Alice Garwin, 3, were killed in Black River Falls.

The second tornado made its appearance at New Auburn, in Chippewa county, where it killed Richard Secora, 18, and cut a path half a mile wide to Bloomer, where Percy Walter, a miller home on furlough, was fatally injured.

Among those reported injured were William Berg and Frank Gable, of Bloomer; Mr. and Mrs. Garwin, Black River Falls; and Mrs. Ole Baglier and Mrs. Lewis Halverson, Orono.

Escapes as Factory Falls.

Many farms in the paths of the twisters were laid waste. Houses, barns and outbuildings were reduced to splinters. Many farmers lost all of their belongings. Seventy-five employees in a Bloomer cannery factory narrowly escaped with their lives when that structure went down. The Jackson box factory in Black River Falls was wrecked.

A barn on the farm of Frank Metake, near Chippewa Falls, was carried 100 feet, leaving a cow and horse standing unharmed on the cement floor. A haystack belonging to Charles Pederson simply vanished.

Residents along the Wisconsin river valley were warned of floods.

J. T. Donaghy, state highway engineer, reported 200 bridges on state highways had been destroyed. Rescuers found roads everywhere blocked by fallen trees and piles of wreckage.

One person was struck by a terrific hail at Kils in the morning. All tests at Camp Dodge, where several thousand citizen-soldiers are encamped, were blown away. The men were left shelterless in a heavy rain and hail storm. Tents also were blown away. A Grantham, Ia., where Catholic boys' scouts were encamped.

Mrs. Ray Lytle was killed at Oranger when her home was hurled from its foundation and was later struck by lightning and burned. Other Iowa fatalities were reported.

COOLIDGE GOING TO FARM A BIT AFTER HIS 'YES'

Urged to Rest from Capital Cares.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—(Special.)—President Coolidge is going back to his native hills in Vermont for a ten day rest starting soon after his notification day, Aug. 14, it was made known today at the White House.

There are several reasons prompting this decision. Chief of these is Mrs. Coolidge's desire to be near the grave of her son for a little while. Then the long weeks of hot weather in Washington have worn the President, and Secretary of War Weeks, who returned from his vacation last week, strongly advised the President to seek a change and rest.

"We'll Go to Father's."

"If I go anywhere it will be back to father's," the President said, after many invitations had come to him and had been refused.

So it is practically decided. He will go back to the pure air of the mountains, herdsman's lamps, and may be in time for the hayride, at occupying in which he was interrupted a year ago by his swift accession to the White House.

The President and William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, were in conference today soon after Mr. Butler's arrival from New York. The President is said to have found the political situation "satisfactory and hopeful."

He will take hold and do the necessary work.

No Campaign Tour.

Mr. Butler later announced that the President would not make any speeches outside of Washington during the campaign. The latter was to be left to Gen. Dawes, who will make an extensive tour.

"Chicago and New York headquarters are functioning satisfactorily," Mr. Butler said. "I am impressed with the great response to the candidacies of the President and Gen. Dawes. As I have met people and received reports from the various sections I have noticed the similarity between this campaign and the pre-convention campaign of Mr. Coolidge. There is a feeling of confidence in the character, ability, and fitness of the candidates."

Mr. Butler said that no plans had been made for opening regional headquarters in the northwest, as has been urged by many Republican leaders of that section.

Chicago to Do Fighting.

"The Chicago headquarters are abundantly prepared to handle the situation," he said. "We have already started what I consider an effective campaign in the northwest. As the campaign proceeds changes may be made."

Mr. Butler was amused at the suggestion that the price of wheat and hogs had anything to do with the success of the Republican ticket.

"I think that the people in the northwest are happier than they were six months or a year ago," he said. "It seems to be the general idea that this will benefit the Republican party."

Butler Replies to La Follette.

Mr. Butler addressed the following letter to Robert M. La Follette Jr., of Madison, Wis.:

"Your letter of Aug. 5 received. I appreciate your assurances with reference to the nomination of Republican presidential electors by the Republican state platform conventions in Wisconsin, and your promise to support the ticket of Mr. Coolidge and Gen. Dawes."

Mr. Butler said that he was not a member of the party, but he was a supporter of the ticket.

James W. Good, former congressman and manager of the Coolidge campaign, was a White House visitor today. It is expected he will soon be placed in the machinery of the new campaign.

Ambassador Herrick Sails for U. S. Today; May Quit

(Chicago Tribune Special News Service.)

PASADENA, Aug. 8.—Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, accompanied by his son and daughter-in-law, will sail for America tomorrow morning on the liner Paris. No comment is made here on persistent reports of his retirement, but it is considered likely that he will leave office after his consultations with the state department on the procedure for taking up the French debt question. Mr. Herrick's health has been bad for several months, and it is generally believed that his resignation is likely this year.

Slugs Woman Fare; Fined $1,000, Jailed

A country judge from Naperville, sitting in Night court during the vacation period, paused only long enough to look up the statutes last evening before giving a heavy fisted taxi chauffeur a beating and beating her husband with a jack handle.

Mr. husband came several hours which her son rides at the Hawthorne race track.

The Doyle automobile became stalled near Randolph and Clark streets, and the racing man sent his wife in a yellow cab driven by Deckelman to get away. Before returning she picked up a friend, Miss Jessie DeLand, at the Fullman building. Doyle waved to her as the cab disappeared.

"Then this driver made an insulting remark to me when I told him to stop beside our automobile," she said later.

Strikes Her Twice.

Miss DeLand left the cab and informed Doyle of Deckelman's conduct. He remonstrated with the chauffeur, who turned on Mrs. Doyle and knocked her down. She staggered to her feet and Deckelman struck her to the pavement once again.

Doyle, who is considerably smaller than the chauffeur, rushed at him and was bitten on the thumb in the struggle. Then Deckelman reached for a jack handle and hit Doyle on the hand. Policeman J. J. Byrne appeared just as several pedestrians were fixing up the battle.

FLOODS CAUSE HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE IN FORMOSA

TOHIO, Aug. 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Seventy-three persons are known to be dead and fifty-seven missing as a result of the overflowing of the Tamsui river in northern Formosa, according to advices received here today. Approximately 40,000 houses were inundated, of which 2,000 were destroyed, while thousands have been rendered homeless, including 7,000 in the city of Taihoku. It is expected that the casualty list will grow when complete reports are received from the districts of Taihoku and Giquan, which were the chief sufferers.

CHINESE VILLAGES SUFFER

PEKING, Aug. 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Hundreds of villages in northern China have been inundated by floods which have swept on to the lowlands, under the urge of the oncoming rains of the last two weeks. Much suffering has resulted, though the loss of life has been small, it is believed, adequate warning having been given the populace in most cases.

Savant Tells Why Chaplin Is So Funny

Toronto, Aug. 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—The educational importance of the sense of humor and the results of extensive inquiries into what children of different ages laugh at was the theme of an address delivered today before the British Association for the Advancement of Science by Prof. C. W. Kimmins of the University of London.

The funniest situations, to a very young child, are purely visual, said Prof. Kimmins, who attributed Charley Chaplin's popularity to his doing just the things that children are forbidden to do. The hat was found to be the most amusing article of apparel, other clothing rarely provoking laughter.

At the age of 7 years the sense of humor broadens to a playing with words, boys' jokes dominating, mainly of movie and fairy stories, while girls become interested almost exclusively in fairy tales, the speaker said.

Girls Better at Riddles

At 8 boys begin to take interest in riddles, but are behind girls in this respect. At 9 laughter centers about stories and jokes read in periodicals, and the amusement at misfortunes of younger children appears. In both England and America misfortunes of others become less humorous at the age of 10, and boisterous fun reaches a maximum at the age of 12, according to Prof. Kimmins.

Fairy Stories as Themes of Jokes

Fairy stories as themes of jokes persist longer in the American child's life than in that of the British child, while stupidity serves as a humorous comment twice as often in America as in England, said Dr. Kimmins. Laughter, he said, is more contagious among Negro than white children, due chiefly to their less control of facial muscles.

Exuberant Love of Lying

"In all the important crises of life," said the speaker, the ability to bring to bear the eternal spirit of childhood is a great solace which is denied to those in whom the sense of humor is lacking.

The Nature of the Environment

The nature of the environment, social outlook and the advance of civilization have a profound effect upon the things we laugh at. Nothing illustrates this better than the change of humor from century to century. The humanization of laughter accompanies the progress of higher ideals in national life.

The rapid growth and extraordinary prosperity of America have produced a fertile soil for the development of the habit of exaggeration, and what has been termed 'an exuberant love of lying.' The influence of the professional humorist as represented by the Mark Twain school has given a very definite stamp of American humor."

'Butch' Pays $10,000 and Quits Prison

Lawrence J. (Butch) Crowley, erstwhile millionaire beer maker and runner, stepped jauntily from the administration building at the bridewell yesterday with a firm "Never again" on his lips and $10,000 temporarily borrowed money in his pocket.

Accompanied by one of his attorneys and a bridewell guard, the doughty ex-convict went to the Federal building, where the $10,000—the amount of his government fine—was paid to the clerk of the United States District court.

Then he returned to the bridewell and donned the prison uniform he will wear today for the last time, for this evening he will be granted his freedom.

Term Out a Month.

"Butch" was sent to the bridewell on March 10, to serve six months as a penalty for running about of the Volstead act. Because of good behavior he has had a month trimmed from the sentence.

His plea of guilty was the climax of a career even more spectacular than that of his mentor, rival in the beer business—Terry Druggan.

Income tax sharks claim that Crowley made about $1,200,000 out of beer hustling from the time he got out of the army until his Elgin Ice and Beverage company plant was dismantled five months ago. Terry only made a little over a million.

"When I say 'never again' I'm not kidding you a-tall," Butch said as he left the portals of the "band house."

"The beer game's not so good, anyhow. And besides the government can get pretty cross with a bird when he becomes a bit too ambitious. And another thing: There's a lot more dough in real estate and gasoline."

Once a Taxi Driver.

Crowley was credited with gaining his wealth through bootlegging, against which his first "heat" when he established a taxi stand (consisting of one cab that he drove himself) which he maintained for nine years in front of the Hotel Morrison. Little violence marked the progress of his enterprises. Men of means who liked him personally furnished the stake, during the days when he was running up his financial shooting, it is said.

"When the 'fall' came to Crowley he entered a plea of guilty and promised to 'take his medicine like a little man.' He told federal officials responsible for his trouble, it is said, that he 'wasn't mad at anybody' and then started to do his time in the engine room of the Bridewell.

Tonight Crowley will be free. And Druggan is looking forward to a strenuous stretch of a year in the county jail, scheduled to begin early next month.

"I ought to be awfully sore at everybody who helped put me away," he said, "but somehow I can't get tough now that I'm about to start on the straight and narrow."

"No Gold Door Knebs."

"I suppose I should go out looking for the newspaper guys who started all that stuff about gold door knobs on my house at Joliet, and the one about me buying the Joliet Commercial club building so I could out do the club because they were supposed to have blackballed me."

There never were any gold knobs and the commercial club, which I never tried to join, is still in my building at a rental of $200 a month for quarters that are worth $300."

Crowley still owns one brewery—in Elgin. He said yesterday that the first thing he expects to do when he gets back to his business interests is to find a buyer for the property.

"I don't want to be mixed up with even a soft-drink layout," he said.

Lawrence insists he has not been jailing in the plans he announced from the Bridewell for a big "mortal" hotel for Joliet.

DAVIS ON WAY TO W. VIRGINIA; SAYS 'YES' ON MONDAY

Bob Hits Klan and Bryan Hits Defense Day.

To Speak in Ohio

Columbus, O., Aug. 8.—John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President, will address the Ohio Democratic state platform convention here on Aug. 26. Chairman W. W. Durbin announced today.

Information was obtainable at local state headquarters whether Mr. Davis' address will be a special one or whether it will be the opening of a contemplated western tour.

(IT A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.) Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—[Special.]—John W. Davis, standard bearer of the Democratic party, tonight is on his way to Clarkburg, W. Va., where he will deliver his acceptance speech next Monday.

Gov. Shaver, chairman-designate of the new Democratic national committee and campaign manager for Mr. Davis, arrived in Washington today, but had little on his mind except the plans for the great Davis "homecoming" and notification celebration. The nominees will be received in his home city tomorrow morning with all the enthusiasm of which Democratic adherents are capable of producing. Mr. Shaver left here this afternoon.

Will Visit Old Friends. "Mr. Davis will go to Fairmont tomorrow evening by trolley," said Mr. Shaver. "He will be entertained formally and will meet all his old friends and neighbors who are in it as well as known in Fairmont as he is in Clarkburg. He will have to meet others on the way over, for two or three stops have been scheduled. After this he will return to Clarkburg and remain over Sunday. The notification ceremony will take place Monday evening, at 9 o'clock eastern time. He will then go to meet the radio broadcasting station. All the arrangements that were made for broadcasting the national convention proceedings will be in effect here, so that the whole country will be able to hear this address."

After the notification Mr. Davis will remain in Clarkburg for several days. About the first of September he will make an address in the mid-west. Several places are being considered. It will probably be at a state fair.

Waits for People's Call. "This does not mean that he will immediately take up a speaking campaign. He will not start that until later and no itinerant campaign is being arranged. The campaign will depend on the people. There is no use in going out until there is a demand for him. He will wait until he is asked to go. The various dates can be hooked up, and the gaps filled."

Mr. Davis, the manager said, would not attempt any general barnstorming campaign, but would reserve himself for a few speeches on special topics at important centers.

The radio will be used wherever possible. In fact, it is the radio that is changing the character of the campaign. In many respects it will make it possible for the candidate to reach more people in fewer addresses, and these will usually be made in the evening. In the last campaign the Democratic 140 speakers out. There will be nothing of that kind this year.

Bryan Tour Is Arranged. The tour of Gov. Charles Bryan, vice presidential candidate, will probably be confined to his own part of the country, Mr. Shaver said. He will leave Clarkburg for Chicago and will go to Lincoln, Neb., on Aug. 15.

Senator La Follette stirred the pot today by coming out flatly against the Ku Klux Klan by name. The announcement was made in a letter to Robert F. Scripps of New York.

"I am unalterably opposed to the evident purposes of the secret organization known as the Ku Klux Klan," he said. "It cannot long survive. Help is on the sound judgment and the good sense of our people. It is my opinion that such a movement is foredoomed. It has, within its own body, the seeds of death."

Mr. Davis also has denounced the Klan.

Bryan Against Defense Day. William Jennings Bryan was in Washington for a short time today. He said that he expected to speak during the campaign in the southern west of the Mississippi. He announced that he agreed with the stand that his brother, Gov. Bryan, taken on Defense day.

"The purpose of a new system of displaying our national defense on a nationwide scale. If they want to call parades, tests, or demonstrations from time to time in different places—all right. If they want to make patriotic speeches, a fine time for that is the fourth of July."

Henry G. Saal, millionaire manufacturer and sportsman, was granted a divorce from Mrs. Violet Fiel Saal yesterday. Judge John J. Sullivan, who signed the decree, held that the 24 years old divorcee had been unfaithful to her middle aged husband. At the same time he dismissed her suit to retain her former rights, which she signed away in a prenuptial agreement.

Mrs. Saal, who has been receiving temporary alimony of $10 a month, was allowed $500 a month for two years by the decree, payments to cease if she marries before the end of that time.

The trial has been dragging in the superior court months and was bitterly contested by attorneys, who even went to blows at one time.

SEARCH FOR MISSING MAN. A search is being made for David M. Green, an experienced woodsman and hunter, who was last seen in the Adirondacks. He is believed to have been killed by a bear.

ALL-LOCAL G. O. P. GOVERNORS BID TO DAWES PARTY

But Wiseacres Don't Expect Small.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Coolidge national headquarters announced yesterday that all the Republican governors in this section of the country have been "especially invited" to attend the Dawes notification ceremonies at Evanston on Aug. 19.

In this way the Republican national committee solves the problem created by recent newspaper publication of the fact that Gov. Len Small of Illinois was not on the list of guests for that occasion. To the official list now are added the names of nine state executives considered as within reach of the ceremonies. It is expected some of them will accept although the invitations are a trifle late.

Fredrick He'll Not Come. Whether Gov. Small will be in that group is not known. It is said that as a result of attacks upon him by Gen. Dawes he is as much anti-Dawes as Dawes is anti-Small. The immediate prediction was that he will find a pressing business which will keep him at Springfield. Among other things the state's suit for the recovery of interest money that disappeared while he was state treasurer is mentioned.

The official announcement on this subject merely listed "the nine Republican governors of middle western states" among the other especially invited. It did not include the names of the national committee, members of the national advisory committee, state chairmen, and Republican senators and congressmen, all of whom have been on the list for some time.

The nine governors were not listed, but they are said to be the following: Idaho—Charles C. Moore. Illinois—Len Small. Indiana—Elliott B. Loring. Iowa—N. E. Kendall. Michigan—A. J. Grosbeck. Minnesota—J. A. O. Preuss. Missouri—A. M. Hyde. North Dakota—W. H. McMaster. Wisconsin—J. J. Blaine.

Exercises Not Private. "The Republican national committee," said the announcement in conclusion, "emphasizes the fact that the exercises will not be private, and extends a general invitation to the public to attend."

Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, was in Chicago yesterday, but did not visit the Republican headquarters, and it was said that his trip was non-political.

La Follette headquarters announced that Philip La Follette will speak at Chicago City Hall today and in St. Louis tomorrow. He will speak in Chicago next Saturday at a picnic of the United Irish societies and in Joliet the following Sunday. Simultaneously Walter Thomas Mills will be touring the state with an automobile equipped with a speech amplification horn. He is said to have been "closely associated" with Premier J. Ramsey MacDonald when the latter was secretary of the British Labor party.

ROCKFORD GIRL ARRESTED HERE WITH POLITICIAN

Miss Gladys Harris, a youthful teacher in the Rockford business school until four days ago, retold her romance with Thomas O. Marshall, Republican candidate for Winnebago county auditor, and an instructor in the same school, who left his wife and child to defy convention with her. She is the same girl that had written to her parents, "Life is merely a quest for happiness, and I am coming to the end of my rainbow. When you get this letter I will be in Canada with the man I love."

But the Canadian part was a woman's strategy, meant to throw the parents off the trail. They had come directly to Chicago and taken a room at 8900 Prairie avenue. When they sought positions in a Chicago business school they were arrested on advice from Rockford.

GUM DROP MYSTERY PUZZLES U. S. FLEET WAITING FOR FLYERS

BY JOSEPH PIERSON.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign Service.] [Copyright, 1924, By The Chicago Tribune.] Indian Harbor, Labrador, Aug. 6.—[Delayed.]—Ensign Duggett, a bachelor residing in Brooklyn, had considerable difficulty explaining to a board of inquiry aboard the destroyer Lawrence today as to what became of five pounds of gum drops.

Just before leaving for northern waters to aid in the American world flight, Ensign Duggett bought two pounds of gum drops and several beaded necklaces and other brilliant jewelry from a 5 and 10 cent store in Newport. He also purchased three pounds of gum drops on instructions from Lieut. Commander Newman. Ensign Duggett admitted before the board that he had been influenced by Dr. Crook's story that Eskimos were keen for gum drops.

The gum drops were hidden in the hold of the Lawrence. Running northward, the Lawrence turned on the steam, and a seaman, inspecting the hold, found the gum drops melting. Intending to perform a good service, he put them in the ship's refrigerator. Shortly thereafter the gum drops were reported missing, and Lieut. Commander Newman began a frenzied hunt for them, which reached the ears of Capt. Russel Willson.

The captain ordered a board of inquiry to find out what had become of the Eskimo's delight. Failing to find any trace of the gum drops a special detail was appointed to watch carefully the crew for any sign of guilty teeth, and especially to watch the men while on shore leave in ports where there are lady Eskimos.

COMMON SENSE WILL ELECT G. O. P. "T. R.'S" SON SAYS

Teddy Jr. Here to Plan Speeches.

Practical American hard headedness will be the big factor in the coming national election and it will bring about the return of Coolidge to the White House as a partner and assure four more years of prosperous Republican administration, Theodore Roosevelt Jr. said on his arrival in Chicago yesterday.

The "little cologne" of the illustrious name came here to confer with Congressman Saunders, head of the Republican speakers' bureau, concerning the speeches he is to make during the campaign. He said that his sole business in the city.

Coolidge and Common Sense. "I feel confident that Coolidge and common sense is what the American people want," he said. "Coolidge and Dawes have the welfare of the American people at heart. They spend their time working for that welfare and not in touring the country explaining what fine men they are."

"The Democrats had the gorgeous effrontery to adopt as one of the leading statements in their platform, this, 'A vote for Coolidge is a vote for chaos.'"

Analysis G. O. P. Claims. "If Coolidge is chaos, what would Democratic rule be, judged by the criterion of that convention?" Col. Roosevelt analyzed the political situation, reasoning that the Republican administration had put the country on a sound basis.

GOMPERS IS MY BEACON, CALLES TELLS A. F. OF L.

New President Outlines Aims in Mexico.

BY DONALD EWING. Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 8.—[Special.]—Plutarco Elias Calles—Tiger of Mexico—his presidential election today pledged his term of office to lifting the laborers of his country out of the realm of penance and into the realm of prosperity and equality with the rest of the world.

The man who becomes Mexico's chief executive in December made this pledge before the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, which is in session here. Calles made a hurried trip from New York to spend just two hours with the American workers and the other labor leaders. He returned tonight to leave tomorrow for Europe.

Fiber in a Tea Shop. The "Tiger," short, swarthy, bull-necked, and seeming to growl through his stubby black mustache, gave his talk in strange surroundings. A fighter by reputation and talking to those usually termed the "sons of toil," he met them in the Mah Jong tea room of a fashionable hotel and there they all had tea and conversation.

"I will never be a traitor," Calles told them, referring to his campaign pledges; and he added that Mexican workers and American workers would rise in life hand in hand, this uplifting coming through the efforts of Gompers in America and Calles himself in Mexico.

Proud of His Enemies. "I have been elected," he continued, "because of the will of our workers, because ever since I began my political campaign I said clearly and without any equivocation, speaking of my country, that I would look for help only to the working classes and that I desired that in the political campaign the reactionary elements remain my enemies and fight against me. The will of the workers and my government is due to them and will be helped by them as long as I fulfill my obligations."

"You can have the absolute assurance that I will never be a traitor, that my government with the new tendencies will be eminently constructive. All my actions will be directed toward the betterment of the oppressed."

Sure of A. F. of L. Support. "I have the conviction that these ideals are carved in the hearts not only of the officers but also of all the members of the American Federation of Labor."

"It is highly satisfactory for me to make known to you on this occasion that the working classes of Mexico and its leaders are in contact with the workers of the United States, and it is so to the point that the president of the American Federation of Labor has a very distinct place in the hearts of the workers of Mexico."

"This visit is for me to embrace Mr. Gompers fraternally and to salute his honorable collaborators."

Calles invited Gompers and the council to attend his inauguration and they accepted.

Won't Publish Letters. Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor, through Samuel Gompers, today refused to publish the correspondence which Mr. Gompers said last Wednesday had passed between himself and John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee.

The council held it was up to Mr. Davis to make public his share of the correspondence, if he wished. Then the council would publish Mr. Gompers' communications to Mr. Davis.

The executive council today awarded the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs jurisdiction over 18,000 members of the Drivers, Helpers, and Chauffeurs union of American Express company employees.

Davis Isn't Worried. New York, Aug. 8.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, "can go as far as he likes" in making public correspondence between himself and John W. Davis, Mr. Davis declared tonight on the eve of his departure for Clarkburg, Va. He so telegraphed Mr. Gompers.

Mr. Davis' telegram also said that he was willing to stand as his labor record without any fear as to the outcome.

COOLIDGE-DAWES CLUB BATS HOOK FOR WISCONSIN

Holds Peppery Meeting in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 8.—[Special.]—Two hundred delegates representing every congressional district of the state perfected a permanent organization to be known as the Coolidge and Dawes Republican Club of Wisconsin at an enthusiastic meeting held at the Republican hotel here today.

T. P. Abel was elected president and Mrs. Catherine Williams of Milwaukee, secretary, by unanimous vote, whereupon a committee to draw rules and regulations for the club was appointed, which in turn recommended the election of a woman vice president at large and specified the election of two vice presidents from each of the eleven congressional districts in the state.

District Vice Presidents. Bristling with business at hand, the conference proceeded at once to elect the twenty-two vice presidents, one woman and one man from each district.

The keynote of the meeting was the getting out of Wisconsin's thousands of "stay at home" voters, practically all of the speakers presenting figures and statistics to show that La Follette can be beaten in Wisconsin if all who do not vote can be made to cast their ballot for the Coolidge and Dawes ticket.

A feature was the noticeable mingling of Lenroot, Philipp, and Wilcox supporters in harmony throughout the day.

William Pieprow of Milwaukee made an address in which he said the Coolidge and Dawes club of Wisconsin "is out for only constructive legislation and not destructive legislation and hitting at La Follette's plan to give congress power over the courts."

Two Trains for Dawes Day. Before adjournment two five car special trains were pledged for the journey to Evanston, Aug. 19, to attend the Dawes notification ceremony. Col. Otto Falk will be in charge of one train and John N. Ferris the other.

Hundreds of Coolidge-Dawes buttons were given out. The leaders of the conference were pleased with the day's results and will meet next week with the national committee in Chicago to map out an aggressive campaign in Wisconsin.

FLORIDA WOMAN NAMED HEAD OF NEGRO SOCIETY

Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune of Florida—who two decades ago founded a girls' school, with a capital of $150, which has now grown into the $500,000 Bethune College—was named head of the National Association of Colored Women at a convention meeting in Wendell Phillips High school.

Mrs. Belle Stewart of Indiana was chosen vice president, while Mrs. Janie Porter Barrett of Kentucky will succeed her as chairman of the executive board.

A post convention gathering is to be held today to form a national political council of colored women to aid the Coolidge campaign this fall.

Men's Fashions

BY A. T. GALLICO.

Opens Down the Back.
NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondent.)—Here's great news for the man who has a fearful and mighty struggle with his dress shirt and studs every time he has to climb into evening regalia. There will be on the market this month a dress shirt that will be opened all the way down the back, and in front the length of the placket. You put in your studs, links, and collar button, and then slip into the shirt. Easy, what? It does away with that last minute rush, when you have barely time to dress for the dinner at Mrs. Vanderbeek's, or the club dinner with the boys, and the studs refuse to take their proper and accustomed places. You can see it during a free moment some time that one of your dress shirts is all harnessed up in the front. Then all you have to do is hitch it in the back. Danger of writing the shirt front in the attempt to get the studs in is also avoided.

There is so seldom anything new to report in the way of evening dress that this shirt comes along as both something to write about and as a comfort to some of the male sex.

Otherwise, we have to tell only that the same cut of evening coats is being worn now, both the formal and the semi-formal. The accessories remain the same. The division between the advocates of white waistcoats and of black with the dinner coat is about the same. Either vest is proper, but one is no more formal than the other. A white vest may be worn with dinner coat, but a white bow tie, never.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MARY V. FALLING ARCHES will make the ankles weak; in addition they send shooting pains up the legs, which are often mistaken for rheumatic pains. It is important that you have shoes that are properly fitted—shoes which give support to the arch and plenty of room to the toes. Send along a stamped, addressed envelope and I'll be glad to furnish you with exercises for weak ankles.

LOU: IF YOUR LUNGS ARE weak it is an excellent idea to develop the habit of deep breathing. Don't feel that a few deep breathing exercises morning and night are sufficient. When you walk, take a slow, steady breath until the chest is quite full, then exhale naturally. Do this each time during the day that you think about it, and soon you will find you will do it unconsciously. It is splendid for developing the chest.

EDNA: THE LOSS OF TEETH greatly changes the facial expression, causing hollows in the cheeks. Have the spaces filled in by bridge work. Consult your dentist as soon as possible, otherwise you will find that you will have an expression of age—which every woman just naturally doesn't want to have. The loss of teeth is responsible for much digestive trouble, the food not being properly masticated.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

Cutting Down on Sweets.

If we want to cut out summer eating of sugar, which we often unconsciously consume in great quantities, the watermelon and pear may become our great allies. It cannot be too often emphasized that with ice cream, lemonade, which require a good deal of sugar, fruits with sugar and cream, cake now and then, and even our blessed apple sauce, we are likely to have much too large a proportion of sugar in our summer diet, for either real comfort or safety. We are hotter for it.

Therefore, I, for one, welcomed the coming of the California Bartlett pear, and read the advertisement exploiting it with great interest. Seven fleeting, wonderful weeks it promised this pear would be with us, and also claimed it was sweeter than pears grown elsewhere. Perhaps it is, for it is surely delicious, and if we want to dress it up a bit and make it go farther for a dessert we may cut up the pears and serve with a little bit of whipped cream, which has a bit of sugar in it to make it more palatable.

Even thus served it will have not more than a fourth of the calories that a dish of peaches and cream is likely to have.

Plan for Stricken Family.

"There are eight children in the Z. family. For the last ten years they have been weathering illnesses, when there was no income, and many other difficulties. Now with the help of interested friends they are moving from four crowded rooms in a rear house to a pleasant six room flat. The present income does not permit any purchases of new furnishings. The old gas-stove is worn out, the dining room table is dilapidated. They have no rug for the new living room. Another single bed is indispensable to decent living, but after other expenses are paid there will not be enough left over to buy it. Will some generous readers contribute one or more of the sadly needed articles?"

Widow and Baby Need Aid. I am coming to you for help. My husband died a year ago, leaving me alone in the world with my little boy who is now 3 years old. I am working, but after the bills are paid I have nothing left to spend on clothes and we are both in need of them. My boy is a little larger for his age, and I wear clothes size 34-35. I can sew and make things over, and will be glad to pay all charges, if there is any one who cares to help us.

Social Success Chicagoans
It's Topic of the Day
BY PANDA

It is always a matter of interest to the Chicagoans who know him to see how the social success of a man is being built up. For instance, the doorman of the Chicago Club, who is known to the Chicagoans as "the doorman," is a man who has built up a social success of his own. He is a man who is known to the Chicagoans as "the doorman," and he is a man who is known to the Chicagoans as "the doorman."

Social Success of Chicagoans Abroad

Is Topic of Interest BY PANDORA.

It is always a matter of considerable interest and comment when certain bred-in-the-bone Chicagoans best themselves to foreign social centers and become shining lights.

For instance, the doings of Henry Channon III, who moved his headquarters to London some time ago, his popularity and the acclaim with which he is everywhere greeted, are invariably subjects for lengthy chats by those who know him and who have personally seen or heard of him. He has established himself in what he calls a little house, in Westminster, 1, and has become almost more popular than his neighbors in dress, manner and general bearing. And he is proceeding to introduce a considerable number of his friends to the social life of the city, quite the life of what is called a party to adorn the calendar.

Now comes news of Volcott Tree, son of the Watson Blairs, who has been grown-up village, and of his social success in the English capital. It seems that a firm friendship has sprung up between him and the much photographed and confessed to be young Prince of Wales, for whose visit to this country the social daughters of the rich and mighty are even now preparing.

One of the strongest bonds between the American youth and the heir to the throne of Great Britain is a love of polo and hunting, but they are finding many other pleasant things to do in each other's company. And the friends of course are delighted with the glowing reports of their son's stay in London.

Young Blair met the prince, so I am told, through Mrs. Rolan Lambert Tree, Mrs. Tree is the grandson of the late Judge Lambert Tree of Chicago, and the son of Lady Beatty, the former Ethel Field, the daughter of Marshall Field. Mrs. Tree, it will be remembered, was the widow of Henry Field, and before her marriage to him, was Miss Nancy Perkins of Richmond, Va. It is due greatly to her hospitality that the Chicago visitor is enjoying himself so thoroughly abroad.

In spite of the fact the prince doesn't seem Chicago bent at present, people are beginning to ask whether he may not change his plans and pay a visit. And the air is full of excitement about what can and will be done if he should decide to do so.

Chicago society is interested in the wedding to take place at 12 o'clock today in Woodstock, Vt., when Miss Gertrude Williams, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edward H. Williams of Woodstock, Woodstock, becomes the wife of Charles Worthington Fowler of Porto Rico. Miss Joan Williams and Mrs. Seymour Ballard of Winnetka are to be among Miss Williams' guests.

What a house guest is as precarious as walking on eggs. Step carefully, and break a family tradition. If you host do not play cards or dance on Sunday, don't do either of these things in their house.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Given to Quorrels.
"Dear Miss Blake I am 17, regarded quite good looking as well as popular, making friends with both boys and girls very quickly, but I cannot keep a real boy friend any length of time, as we quarrel and then our friendship ends. I am well liked by my friends, but I would like to know what to do in order to overcome this situation."

Trixie, it looks as though there's something wrong when you quarrel with all the boys. You must be partly to blame, at least, or surely some of them would remain friendly. Take an inventory of yourself and find out where the fault lies. Are you unreasonably, or selfish, do you expect too much without wishing to do your share to make things pleasant? Be frank with yourself, dear, and when you get at the cause, take steps to remedy it immediately. You will soon find your self friends and intimate if you don't.

Find Some One Else.
"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 19 and met a young man about 22 at a dance last March. We became attached to each other. I had him come to my house a few times and my people liked him. He told me he liked them. We kept steady company until about two weeks ago. He promised to call me up at a certain time and he did not and has not called since. My girl friend was informed that he is going with a girl with whom I went to school. Now, I miss this young man a great deal. I have lots of boy friends but I don't wish to hear from him. Should I call him up?"

I wouldn't call him up if I were you. It is just a case where the young man has met someone he likes better than you and is spending his time with her, taking her out. To let him know how you feel about it would do you no good, and cause you embarrassment. I would say, instead, do just as he did—find some one else with whom to share your pleasures.

Nobility in Heart That Loves Without Any Hope of Reward

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I love a young man dearly, Miss Blake, but he does not return my love."

How familiar I am with stories of unrequited love! There is a touch of sadness to them that cannot be brushed by with a laugh, a reproach, or the admonishment to forget him.

Some women are born with that love that gleams undiminished. They love on in spite of hurts, neglects, and broken promises. There is a certain nobility in a heart that can give generously with faint hope of reward, even though it is a nobility deserving of a better return. In such women there is a wealth of love which they lend to spend lavishly.

To have loved and lost is not so hard to bear as the feeling that one's love is not wanted. The sorrow of widows and widowers is less hard to face than the sorrow of unrequited love.

There is so little one can say that will be of any comfort to those who love deeply and truly, but still their love unreturned. It is a heartache that has to be borne alone. If it is revealed, it may be laughed at, but those who have never known such a situation may speak lightly of it. Those who have resented it may become bitter and cynical.

Hazel is an illustration. She and Henry attended grammar school together, but they went through high school together, and through college. They were neighbors. Their families were on intimate terms. From her earliest years Henry was Hazel's idol. Until she was 19 she gave no other man a chance. On the faintest hope of Henry's dropping in on a neighborly call, she would cancel engagements with high school and college boys who sought her company.

Henry was honest with the girl. He knew she cared for him. It was no obvious to be concealed. He kept away as much as the decency of a long established friendship would permit without appearing rude and ungrateful. He went out with other girls. He made no secret of his going. Once in a long time he would ask Hazel to accompany him, purely for the sake of the family friendship. His mother, Elsie Hazel, would like to have seen the match. Henry liked her—but he did not love her.

At 23 he married. At 30 she married. She had wanted so supremely that one special person that she had no love to give the man she married. They got along in a fashion. But their love was not a love that would seek out for information on how to be happy though married. She is embittered with life. And the characteristic often peculiar to a victim of unrequited love is that she believes Henry's wife shamefully ungrateful and without real love for him. She reads into these circumstances the injustice of life.

Times often heal these injured hearts. Nothing so cooperative with time in the healing process as leading the love that seems unwanted to some one who needs it. No girl who can love deeply is likely to get unwearyed for any length of time—if she will but give herself half a chance.

Williams, departed last evening for San Francisco where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Zeiss (Mrs. Williams). Mrs. Williams preceded Dr. Williams and their daughter by a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Bauer of the Sovereign and their daughter, Rosemary, are spending the month at Butterfield lake, near Three Rivers, Wis. William A. Bauer Jr. is at the Minocqua camp for boys at Minocqua, Wis.

Mrs. William A. Humphreys of the Drake and her son, William, have returned from a trip to Alaska. They will depart in a few days for their summer residence in Wisconsin.

Bright Sayings of the Children

"The Tribune will pay $1 for each child's saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any newspaper or magazine, and must be a new one. Send your saying to the Tribune, 435 North Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill."

Emma was told never to bring the dog into the house. One day she had brought the dog in. "What did I tell you about bringing the dog into the house?"

Barbara and Jane were making their bow as public speakers. The audience was pleased with the effort, had given them a hearty encore. After covering themselves with glory for a second time, they came off the stage weeping. "O, teacher," cried Jane, "what was the matter with our piece that we had to say it over again?"

When George was asked if he would not like to have some stater he nonchalantly answered: "O, I wouldn't mind 'em if they was mixed in with some brothers."

"I Could Be Pretty, But—"
An appeal and a secret
"I think I could be pretty, but my hair makes me just commonplace. It is the kind of brown hair that isn't even a good brown. It's just hair. It never catches anyone's eye. Is there any way I can make it attractive without dyeing it?"

U.S. BANKERS GET READY TO HANDLE LOAN TO GERMANY

BY O. A. MATHER.

It became more evident yesterday that international bankers, led by the big American houses, are "clearing the decks" for the forthcoming German loan, in which this country's participation is expected to be $100,000,000 or more.

Tomorrow as the Dawes plan for settlement of reparations is expected to become operative within the next sixty days, it is obvious a German loan must be effected within that time in order to establish the plan on a proper working basis. It was the consensus yesterday that this international loan will make its appearance in the investment market on or after Sept. 1.

But a heavy volume of new financing, apart from the next few months, is planned for the next few months and this is likely to take up the slack in the money market. The schedule includes about $100,000,000 of new farm loan financing to aid farmers in making their crops. This will be arranged through government agencies and the interest rate is expected to set a new low record for this type of financing.

Then, there will be $50,000,000 of state and municipal financing, $200,000,000 of United States treasury financing, and a $100,000,000 Baltimore and Ohio refunding bond issue. All told, the American investment market will be called on to absorb upwards of $800,000,000 of new securities before Christmas.

Farmer Conserves Live Stock. While the American farmer is "cashing in" on his grain at prevailing high prices, he is conserving his live stock. This is shown in the report of railroad traffic covering the week ended July 25. While shipments of grain and grain products, coal, coke, forest products and merchandise in less than carload lots marked an increase over the preceding week, the gain was more than offset by reduced shipments of live stock, ore and miscellaneous freight.

The result was that total loadings of 225,855 marked a decrease of 4,415 from the preceding week and a decline of 119,584 cars, or 11 per cent, from the corresponding week last year.

Better Business Reported. Improving tendencies in general business are noted in the report of the reviews. This is especially to be found in the wholesale dry goods trade. "Current distribution showed a decided increase over last week, although falling short of the volume of a year ago," Marshall Field & Co. say. "Road sales were considerably in excess of both last week and the corresponding period a year ago. There were more customers in the market than a year ago. Collections were not quite as good."

Wholesale dry goods business at present indicates that the turn in conditions is favorable in July will continue through August and the balance of the year," the John V. Farwell company says. "The change in sentiment is expressed by merchants generally. Considerable interest is shown in fall and winter merchandise and commitments are much broader in contrast to the rigid hand-to-mouth buying policy of the first half of the year."

Black Ring, Output Small. Production of steel ingots in July aggregated 1,800,415 tons, compared with 2,064,468 tons in June, according to a compilation of the American Iron and Steel Institute. The daily average output, amounting to 71,901 tons for the past week, is the lowest of the month, the smallest reported for any month since December, 1921, when the steel industry was just beginning to recover from the depression of that year. For the first seven months of the year, total production was estimated at 12,514,444, against 25,835,455 tons in the corresponding period of 1922.

Production of pig iron for the first half of 1924 was 17,514,447 gross tons, compared with 21,016,475 gross tons for the corresponding period last year.

BREAK IN WHEAT IN THE ARGENTINE CUTS PRICE HERE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A break of 15¢ to 15¢ in wheat prices in Buenos Aires after an opening bulge of 4 to 4½¢ due to general panic in the Argentine which removes doubt as to a market influence for some time was largely responsible for a break in the local market after a strong rally from an opening decline. The finish was 3½¢ to 4¢ lower. Corn was up 2 to 3½¢ at one time on free buying based on the government report but closed only 1½¢ to 2½¢ higher. Oats gained 1½¢ to 2½¢ with rye 0 to 1½¢ to 2½¢.

Comminutors' houses were aggressive buyers of wheat on the decline, and a good part of the buying appeared to be for resale of wheat against export sales. The seaboard reported only 400,000 bu. sold abroad, but the actual day's business was estimated at 1,000,000 bu. at the Gulf. There were indications that as high as 2,000,000 bu. wheat had changed hands during the day, either sold abroad or taken by exporters.

Outside Trade Fair Off. There has been a noticeable falling off in the outside trade in wheat of late, which to some extent accounts for the rapid price changes. Wet weather prevailed over a large part of the wheat and corn harvest in Argentina, and there are now coming forward. Bids on spot wheat were firm, while at the Gulf there is a tendency to advance prices as compared with September. Black and red wheats from Manitoba and North Dakota attracted little attention. Winnipeg's October showed more strength than Chicago and gained 1½¢ for the day, while the deferred deliveries were off 1½¢. Exporting has started in Alberta. Fear of frost were expressed in late messages from Winnipeg. September here closed at $1.25 to $1.26, December at $1.27 to $1.28, and May at $1.27 to $1.28.

Soft Day in Corn. Bullish sentiment predominated in the corn market with the government report of the previous day the main influence. Messages from parts of Iowa claimed hail and wind damage, but the extreme advance was not met. The market was active on the break in wheat. September finished at $1.14 to $1.15, December at $1.05 to $1.06, and May at $1.04 to $1.05. Shipping for cash corn was good with demand for the export. Receipts here returned to follow the advance in futures, and the basis in the sample market was easier. Receipts were 335 cars.

Oats Show Strong Underlies.

Government report had little effect on the oat market, and the bulk of the commission house buying prices averaged higher. Wet weather prevailed over a wide territory and harvest operations are being delayed. Forecast was for unsettled weather. Receipts were 17 cars with the spot basis higher.

Dawes Plan Helps Rye. Germany and France bought around 900,000 bu. rye overnight at the seaboard, the probability that the Dawes plan would be accepted by all countries being the basis for the buying. The late decline in wheat was responsible for the fractionally lower close.

Provisions Close Higher.

Investment buying of provisions by commission houses on the foreign political developments was largely responsible for a higher range. Lard gained 7½¢ for the day. Smaller packers also bought, while the best selling was by profit dealers. Prices follow:
